

Phil aims to be a delight to work with. He's not the kind of speaker that has "Rock Star Requests" nor will he be bringing an entourage of assistants. Instead, his objective is to make your stressful job as easy as possible.

But with that said; Phil does have a few small requests in order to help you get the best out of it him.

Phil's Virtual Requirements

- Advance notice of the conference platform to be used
- Time scheduled ahead of the event to test technology

Phil's Onstage Requirements

- Two bottles of room temperature water
- Side table
- Preferably no barriers on stage (no lecterns or podiums)
- Preferably rear mounted projectors
- Microphone should be a lavalier microphone or headset mic (handhelds will impact on his ability to present)

Phil's Preferred Walk-on/Walk-off Music

B.o.B - "Magic" (feat. Rivers Cuomo)

Additional Services

When you book Phil you typically have him for the day – he’s all yours. Many clients wish for him to be involved in additional engagements such as photo ops, book/CD signings, lunches/dinners, group outings etc. But please make sure you mention this as soon as possible – remember: if you don’t ask, you don’t get!

Audience Takeaways

Many clients like to provide their audience with a record of Phil’s work so that everybody can continue to learn after the event. We offer discounted pricing for bulk orders on books so that you can get the most from Phil’s training and can even customize books and audio programmes for your individual needs.

For any of these additional services or if you have any questions/ideas, then please contact Bonnie (Phil’s Personal Assistant) as soon as possible – bonnie@philmjones.com.
